

My idea for change:

Resources are being under used by staff members, as evidenced by the discussions in the first Education Zone. In particular, this applies to Moodle and the uploading of lecture slides before the actual lecture.

How should this change?

That the digital literacy of staff members needs be to improved, and they are encouraged to upload lecture slides and resources before the timetabled session, to help those with learning difficulties.

What should the SU do?

Senate mandates that the VP Education works with the TEL (technology enhanced learning) team at the University to ensure staff members are using the Moodle templates provided, and supplying students with resources in a timely manner.
